About the Morgans

G3 Read about the Morgan family!

Wally Morgan wanted to know about his ancestors. He looked in old books, and visited churches. He discovered a lot of things about his family.

Wallace Morgan was a pirate. He lived from 1624 to 1657. He worked as a navigator for Captain Eagle Blood. They sailed around the world three times. This was by mistake: Wallace didn't have a map. Finally, in 1657 they arrived in England. Wallace died in his bath. He slipped on the soap and drowned.

His grandfather, Willy Morgan, played football for England. He was a defender. He played against Scotland in 1923. The game started at 3 o'clock on a Saturday afternoon in May. England scored the first goal at 4:15. Then, Willy scored two goals... both for Scotland. He didn't play for England again.

Sir William Morgan lived from 1413 to 1452. He was very romantic. He loved Lady Matilda Potter, the niece of the King. He asked her to marry him in 1432. She said "No". He asked her again in 1437, 1441, 1443, and 1450. Finally, she married him in 1452. He died ten minutes after the wedding. His horse stopped on a bridge. He fell off and landed in the river. He was wearing his armour. It weighed 400 kg.

Billy "Four Eyes" Morgan lived from 1857 to 1886. He moved to the United States in 1879, and in 1886 he was the Sheriff of Rattlesnake County. He died in a gunfight with Jesse James. Billy fired his gun six times, but he didn't kill Jesse James. He killed three horses, a dog, the State Governor, and a Deputy Sheriff. Then, Jesse killed him. Billy wasn't wearing his glasses.
